Response to Amendment

This action is in response to Applicant's amendment submitted June 8, 2006 wherein claims 1-16 are pending.

To expedite the process of examination Examiner requests that all future correspondences in regard to overcoming prior art rejections or other issues (e.g. amendments, 35 U.S.C. 112, objections and the like) set forth by the Examiner that Applicants provide and link to the most specific page and line numbers of the disclosure where the best support is found (see 35 U.S.C. 132).

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the features of passing data between the claimed three independent components must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Goldberg et al (U.S. Patent No. 6,430,556).

Regarding claim 1, Goldberg discloses a method and system for SQL query selections with user defined plug-ins functions operating on semi-structured and structured data files, the method comprising: (fig. 1)

a) providing three interconnected independent components: (fig. 3)

a query filter, a data extractor, and a database; (fig. 3, items 302, 300 and 304)

the query filter for issuing and parsing relational queries, (col. 2, lines 54-56)

data extractor extracts the data or obtains information about the database schema including columns and rows of data and returns the database schema or columns of data as one row of text, (fig. 3, items 300, 316, and col. 6, lines 42-48)

Art Unit: 2163

the database is a local or distributed collection of structured or semi-structured data files; (fig. 1, item 110 and col. 5, lines 6-8) and

b) passing requests between the query filter and the data extractor, and between data extractor and the database to allow the query filter to view the data of the database matching the SQL query selection (fig. 3, items 300, 302 and 304 and col. 5, lines 64-67; note, object 206 is located on client side).

Regarding claims 2 and 3, Goldberg discloses the database schema is returned from the data extractor to query filter (col. 6, lines 54-56).

Regarding claims 4-7, Goldberg discloses the query filter (fig. 5, item 536) passes requests and interacts directly with the data extractor (fig. 5, item 500) via an interface to select and obtain desired information (fig. 5, item 534, and col. 8, lines 33-41).

Regarding claim 8, Goldberg discloses SQL grammar like Backus Naur Form (fig. 10, items 1016, 1018 and 1020).

(Backus form is of data type, column and procedures)

Regarding claim 9, Goldberg discloses a UNIX environment (col. 5, lines 18-23).

Regarding claim 10, Goldberg discloses data extractor may be implemented in many programming languages (col. 7, lines 39-45).

Regarding claims 11-15, Goldberg discloses plug-ins and routines to support multiple data types (fig. 3, and col. 5, lines 64-67).

Regarding claim 16, Goldberg discloses the database comprises dispersed structured or semi-structured data files (fig. 1, item 110 and col. 14, lines 8-35).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's amendment and arguments filed June 8, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The arguments and responses are listed below.

Applicant states that the objected drawing has been amended and is now compliant.

Examiner disagrees. The office has not received any replacement drawings, as such, the objection is maintained.

Applicant states that the present amendment overcomes indefiniteness issues and objections to the claims.

Examiner agrees. The previous rejections regarding claim formalities and definiteness are withdrawn.

Applicant argues that the present invention uses a "particular interaction" between data extraction, query filter and database, and is not described in the cited art.

Examiner disagrees. It is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., a particular interaction) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Instead, Applicant's claim comprises "passing requests" between data extractor, query filter and database. A particular interaction is not claimed. Goldberg clearly discloses sending and receiving requests between data extractor, query filter and database, see figures 3 and 5, and refer to rejections above for more details.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
